Work Product 3: Practitioner article based on original research

The document that follows is a short article I wrote with Dr. Rachael Gabriel; it was published in the online version of the magazine Educational Leadership (EL). This was our attempt to distill the results of a lengthy integrative literature review (Toracco, 2005) into a short, helpful article focused on teaching practices for an audience of teachers and school leaders. Since it was published it has been cited several times by other scholars focused on (adolescent) literacy instruction.
